

Matthews House - East Hampton, New York

This house has views, protection from occasional high winds, low maintenance, comfort, and space for weekend guests. The two-story living space is divided into active and quiet areas by the tall brick fireplace and stairs that lead to the upper bedroom. Concealed clerestory windows are situated around the top of the fireplace, allowing natural daylight to filter into the living room. A path and steep flight of stairs lead to a bay beach 30 feet below.
